

AUSTRALIAN COBBERDOG SOCIETY

A letter from your Cobberdog puppy

To my dearest new human,

I am your new Cobberdog puppy and I can't wait to spend my life with you! I promise to do my best to fill your life with love, joy and lots of fun. You may have heard that Cobberdogs are often used as therapy dogs. This is because we are naturally friendly, gentle and people-oriented. But remember, every puppy is unique, just like you! I have my own strengths and weaknesses, and I need your help to reach my full potential.

I've heard that good socialisation and appropriate training bring out the best in me. My amazing parents, who are the coolest dogs ever with the best personalities and glowing health, told me it's incredibly important! I've already learned so much from them, my siblings, and my loving breeder, but now it's time for some real-world adventures with you! Take me out and about, let me meet other dogs and people, and playfully teach me everything I need to know.

And maybe you could even start looking for a good dog trainer who knows about teaching a special puppy just like me. I should remind you that I am very clever and I love to learn by being told when I am doing the right thing.

But please don't forget that I have my own character, my own preferences and my own pace. Please give me the time and space I need to develop and build my confidence.

I look forward to all the adventures we will experience, to the cuddling on the sofa and to all the love we will share and memories we will make.

Together, we will be a great team!

With love,

Your new Cobberdog puppy.
